NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW.

The leading article in the North American Review for March is by exjudge Jere S. Black, and is entitled "The Third Term," being a reply to ex-Senator Howe's paper on that subject in the Review for February. Mr. Black holds that to elect General Grant to a third term of office in the presidential chair would be a violation of a custom that is stronger than any laws or constitutions whatever; that it would in effect be the end of our republican institutions, and the enstallment of "empire." Hon. E. W. Stoughton follows Mr. Black, taking precisely the contrary view, that not only is a third term not a thing to be deprecated, but that it is eminently desirable, especially if, as General Grant's case, an interval of time has elapsed between the second term and the third. THE CALIFORNIAN.

The Californian for March (the third number) is out, and it is unquestionably the best, many of the articles possessing more than osual value. A leading paper is by Henry S. Brooks, and treats of "Our Relations With Mexico" in a most thorough manner. Mr. Brooks displays a complete knowledge of the resources and condition of Mexico, and traisbes much interesting and valuable data "Certain Phases of the Chinese Quistion" is a timely paper by John F. Miller. The contents, aside from those manifored are aside from the contents, aside from those manifored are as trike, decided to-day to close his factories. Lesseps' Canni Stock.

New York, 28.—Lesseps issued a circular to-day, to American bankers, who may take charge of issuing shares of the furnished by the last of July. The list of jurities rady to close his factories. This action throws about 400 workmen out of employment. "Certain Phases of the Chinese Quisstion" is a timely paper by John F. Miller. The contents, aside from those mentioned, are as follows: "Sand," III, by J. W. Gally; "In the Shade," by S. E. Anderson; "Shepherds and Sheepherding," by Robert Duncan Milne; "First Love and Last," by Kate Heath; "Nine Days on the Sammit of Shasts," by B. A. Colonos; "Lex Scripta," by Nathan C. Kouns, "Ireland, her Past and Present condition," by T. H. Higeland; "On With The Dance," No. 2, by Bash Bazouk; "One-Poem Poets," by Edward Belcher, "Crystals," by Kate M. The opening paper, "A Bit of Old Normandy," by Fred My-ron Colby, is illustrated with cuts of Some of the grand old churches of Caen, statues, etc. The subject of George Birdseye's eleventh paper on "America's Song Composers," is Joseph E. Winner, better known as "Eastburn." There is a well written poem on John Andre, by D. D Willesa, which is also illustrated by portraits of Andre, Arnold and the execution of the famous patrict, Nathan Hale. "Some Distinguished Pets," by Amanda B. Harris, is a delightful account of some of the familiar pits, the canaries, boxes, doves, dogs, etc. Among the contributions are "Transformed" by Clara B. Heath; "The Rector's Box," by Fred F. Foster; "Traces of the Past in Rhode Island," by Kesiah Shulton; "Changed," by F. F. F., "The Atmosphere of Our Homes," by T. S. Sozinskey, M. D., "Goliath," by David Lowry; "The Lost Valley," by Major Hamilton; besides continuations of "Leon Maner," and "Pen, Press and Pencii," as well as the usual amount, and variety of editorial matter.

FEANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY. The opening article in the March The opening article in the March number is an exceedingly interesting one on the life and genius of the late Frank Leslie, by Richard B. Kimball. There are ten admirable illustrations, with a postrait of the deceased. There are descriptive articles of "Mantua," of the "Blenkeller, or Vaultof the Dom Kirche, under the Church of St. Pater Bremen's very Church of St. Peter, Bremen; a very vivid description of the explorations of the Austrians in Kaiser Franz Josef's Land, and the secape from it, etc. Henry Barton Baker ras an extension of the Austro-Burgarian monarchy must follow, and the policy of ecclient article on "The Olf Tavern Life in England," describing the haunts of old time celebrities. "Dairy Farming in America" is elaborately treated by A. S. Fuller; and Robert James Mann, M. D., F. R. L. S., has a profusely illustrated article "Why the Wind Blows." The serial "Not Guilty," by Etta W. Pierce, is continued, and there are short stories by the sattnor of "That Lass o' Lowing," John Gilbert, Walter Edgar McCann, Eleanor Kirk, Sue Chesnutwood, and other celebrated writers, mutwood, and other celebrated writers, and the mutwood a There are poems of great merit, several of them beautifully illustrated.

New York, 28.—A Washington special to the Evening Post: Latest advices from China confirm the belief expressed last year that the Euperor's advisers are availing themselves of the sentiment ovinced in the Chinese emigration bill to make his foreign policy conform to the ascisation as the empire. Without ascribing the acts and utterances of Chinase authorities to sentiments of resentment or treating them as retalladay in their nature, it is rossonable to suppose they are prempted in some degree by the treatment which the subjects of the Chinase empire have received from the lawmakers and chieses of this country. China is undoubtedly strongthening her armaments, and it is manifesting a hostile spirit towards her neighbors and foreigners generally, that bodes no good to the peace of Asia. Washington, 28.—Senators Wallace, Beck and Booth, a sub-committee of the committee on appropriations; heard Postmaster General Brady, and Monroe Salisbury, western musi contractor, on the subject of the Star service desclancy. Postmaster General Key Assistant Postmaster General Brady, and Monroe Salisbury, western musi contractor, on the subject of the Star service desclancy. Postmaster Generals Key and Brady argued that the amount proposed by the House bill should be increased $1,700-000, and that its restrictive provisions should be stricken out, in order to maintain the mail service to the present standard, including all increases of numbers of trips and all expediting of the service ordered during last and current fineal years. The amount originally asked for by the department was $2,000,000. Bardy, 10,000,000 of this was requested for additional services for the remainder of the current fiscal year which the department no longer contemplates.
